SUMMARY

Java developer with First Class Honours in Computing and hands-on experience building backend systems with Spring Boot, REST APIs, and relational databases. Completed a four-month internship at Amnil Technologies developing inventory management APIs, and served as lead backend developer on a full-stack booking platform as a final year project. Currently mentors 100+ undergraduate students in Java programming while contributing to college research initiatives. Looking to bring this foundation into a backend-focused Java Software Engineer role with hands-on production experience.
